PARLIAMENTARY PANEL SURVEY - MPs - OCTOBER 2010

Q: In surveys of the public, a majority of people state that they would prefer to die at home.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with the following statement?

In order to ensure that people are able to choose to die at home, there must be a greater provision of nursing care available at home and 'out of hours'.

PARLIAMENTARY PANEL SURVEY - MPs - OCTOBER 2010

Q: Despite a majority of people stating that they wish to die at home, the proportion of people who die at home is actually 35%.

To what extent do you agree or disagree with each of the following statements?

It should still be possible, even in times of economic constraint, for people to have access to high-quality care and support at the end of their lives, in the place of their choice
