	Q8. Summary
	I am generally happy with things as they are in Jersey and not looking for change, so I don't care much for voting when elections come around	When people are only on the island for a relatively short time there is less reason for them to engage with the political system	Everyone has a responsibility to engage with the political system irrespective of how long they have lived on Jersey	Voting should be made compulsory	There should be more official information about the election process	There should be more official information about the candidates	The States should do more to boost voter registration	Candidates standing for election should make more effort to knock on my door and talk to me about why I should vote for them
