Q4. This week MPs will continue to vote on Brexit. One of the options MPs will vote on is whether the UK will remain in a customs union with the EU. This would mean that, post-Brexit, the UK would have a closer trading relationship with the EU and reduce some (but not all) checks at the Irish border, but would prevent the UK from striking independent trade deals with other countries. Do you agree or disagree with the following statements?

●	13	11	Q4. This week MPs will continue to vote on Brexit. One of the options MPs will vote on is whether the UK will remain in a customs union with the EU. This would mean that, post-Brexit, the UK would have a closer trading relationship with the EU and reduce some (but not all) checks at the Irish border, but would prevent the UK from striking independent trade deals with other countries. Do you agree or disagree with the following statements? / The UK remaining in a customs union with the EU honours the result of the referendum / The UK remaining in a customs union would mean that it has not really left the EU / If my MP votes for the UK to remain in a customs union with the EU I would not vote for them at the next election	Base: All respondents	1008
