Q4. Since CCGs were first set up there has been a move towards broadening their overall responsibilities, for example to include co-commissioning primary care and getting more involved in specialised commissioning.

To what extent, if at all, would you say that you are confident in your CCG's ability to deliver these new responsibilities alongside your existing statutory responsibilities?

Q4. Since CCGs were first set up there has been a move towards broadening their overall responsibilities, for example to include co-commissioning primary care and getting more involved in specialised commissioning.

To what extent, if at all, would you say that you are confident in your CCG's ability to deliver these new responsibilities alongside your existing statutory responsibilities?
